

ARCHITECTURAL DIGEST

THE INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE OF INTERIOR DESIGN

JUNE 2005

AMERICAN COUNTRY HOUSES

A Refuge for Superb Salvage

A monumental pediment on fluted columns, a pair of intricate limestone corbels and a circa 1920 architectural detail from a New York City building façade (above left) are part of the salvaged repertoire at David Allen's Artefact Design & Salvage in California's Sonoma wine country. "Great architectural salvage is hard to find," says Ron Mann (left, with a fountain from Provence), "so this is the ideal source when I'm looking for a dramatic fragment or structure."

Artefact Design & Salvage
23562 Hwy. 121
Sonoma, CA 95476; 707-933-0660
www.artefactdesignsalvage.com

Carpet Magic

"We're a boutique committed to creating an exemplary product," says Joe Carini, who owns Carini Lang with his wife, Aurelie Lang. At their Tribeca showroom (a new location as of November 2003), Joe Carini designs commissions for a following that includes Annabelle Selldorf and Dana Hugo, creating rugs such as Kapshu Pesar and Big Chrysanthemum (details, left).

Carini Lang, 335 Greenwich St., New York NY 10013, 646-613-0497; www.carinilang.com